Using Theory to Understand Implementation Challenges

«invite your expert» - an interdisciplinary lunch talk with

Prof. Per Nilsen

Freitag, 14. Dezember 2018, 12.15 - 13.30 Uhr

im UG1, Institut für Pflegewissenschaft, Bernoullistrasse 28, Basel

Per Nilsen is a Professor of Social Medicine and Public Health, with a particular focus on implementation science, at Linköping University, Sweden. He was responsible for building a research program on implementation science at Linköping University, which has attracted national and international interest. He leads several projects on implementation of evidence-based practices in various health care and community settings.

Nilsen's research also covers issues such as patient safety, workplace learning and change fatigue in health care. He takes particular interest in issues concerning behavior and practice change and the application of theories, models and frameworks for improved understanding and explanation of implementation challenges

Per Nilsen will give a talk on how to use theory to understand barriers and facilitators in the implementation process of interventions in the real world.

This is a great opportunity to learn more about implementation science, share your experience and ask questions, around a lunch talk.
